PROCLAIMING PROSPERITY.

In a remarkable official statement issued by the organization committee of the new currency system following its five weeks' tour of the country, an announcement is made that the national bases of prosperity are rock-bottomed, and that the financial outlook is one of optimism unqualified.

The expression is the most significant yet uttered regarding business conditions in this country, present and future.

In the first place, the source of the state-ment is one of its greatest factors of strength.

It is the job of the committee not to be enthusiastic, and not to boast, but to sense and speak the truth.

McAfee and Houston and Williams are qualified to fill this prescription.

The first two of them have had first-hand facilities for gauging the situation in every section of the union.

They asked leading and judicial ques-tions of men who ought to know the under-lying facts of their respective territories.

And everywhere the report was the same.

Prosperity without a flaw was the verdict, and the outlook is wholly sanguine.

An important phase of the announcement is the manner in which it reflects the views of bankers regarding the new currency system.

Nowhere did the committee encounter hostility.

Everywhere it found the admission that remedy of our present system was sadly needed, and that the Glass-Steagall law was about as well calculated to fill the bill as any measure as yet in the promotion system.

Chairman McCrood stated that he hoped the new currency system would be in time to the crop movements next fall, but that if not, the treasury will not hesitate to take extraordinary measures to assure that the process shall be accomplished without embarrassment to business.

If any answer were needed for the politically calamity bowlers who have been making the air of congress somber with their unpatriotic prevarications it is found in the straightforward expressions from the organization committee.

The committee has done a service to the country.

Its members have rigidly justified their selection.

The nation will await, with new confidence, the technical working out of the organization of the new system, in the sure knowledge that the task is in steady and competent hands.

"AN OUTLAW AMONG NATIONS."

The Lodge of Massachusetts, the United States as an "outlaw among nations" as long as it stands committed to the infamous free tolls provision in the Panama canal legislation.

The senator's remarks were made in the course of a running debate, in which almost as many republicans as democrats defended the record of the president that the free tolls clause was a wise and just measure.

It was much that was insolent and stupid in the charges of Bristol, the speculator and frankish senator from Kansas, and the talkative Chamberlain, of Oregon, that the president had been unduly influenced by the trans-continental railroad.

Mr. Wilson is the last man in the country to be gullied or prevailed upon by similar agencies. He has an infinitely closer idea of the true and the tragic tolls situation than the few men who see fit to substitute abuse of the chief executive for logic which they cannot find.

This all to one side, discussion about the "ethics" of our right to grant a subsidy to countries shipping, and a subsidy is all it is to the general public.

There is no "ethics" in dishonesty.

And it is dishonest of the most pronounced type when a nation violates its written pledge.

That is what it is proposed we shall do in the matter of preferential treatment of American vessels.

It is equally quibbling to say that the Baltimore platform called for free tolls.

Platform made by tired and impulsive men had been axed before in American history.

It is time to set this nation right before civilization.

The issue is not one of partisanship.

Patriotism and old-fashioned and unadorned honesty are the sole considerations.

OPENING AN EMPIRE.

Both house and senate have now taken action on the bill providing for a government railroad from tidewater to interior Alaska. The president will sign the measure as soon as the two branches have completed their technical work on it.

The enactment of this legislation is the correction of a long and costly injustice to one of the most promising portions of America's domain.

For many years Alaska has been systematically neglected.

The bulk of our people have gone on the assumption that the territory was a sort of undergrowth for the Arctic circle, fit only for a population of polar bears and inquisitive explorers.

The truth is that size Alaska is one-fifth the size of territorial United States.

Its mineral wealth, in coal and gold, is tremendous.

Its agricultural possibilities are many and varied.

Its resources in timber and water power are impressive.

Heretofore we have given the region a makeshift form of territorial government that was good for the Arctic circle, fit only for a population of lading and cockpit explorers.

The building of a railroad which shall open up an empire in the making is the first step.

ALDERMANIC BOARD DEADLOCK ON SHEET

City Attorney Holds That Mayor Cannot Break Tie. Situation, Therefore, Remains Unchanged.

An adverse opinion given by City Attorney James L. Mayson and concurred in by Mayor W. D. B. Jackson, stayed plans of majority leaders in council to break the deadlock in the situation over the 1914 budget dispute.

With eight aldermen present, and the board of aldermen and the members of both factions became excited when the report was spread that Mayson had been retained to break the deadlock and measure the passage of the sheet by vote.

Asked for an opinion, City Attorney Mayson declared that years ago when the city council was in session, the members of the code provided that in case of a tie, the mayor could vote to decide any question. The city attorney added, "That the code had been amended since that time and that at present the mayor does not have the power to vote in case of a tie."

City Attorney Ellis gave the same opinion.

Legal Questions Involved.

When the general committee convened Tuesday, the members took up the sheet, a peculiar legal question, concerning which the aldermanic board had authority to go into session.

The board of aldermen must meet at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, according to the meeting of council, but took a recess until Thursday afternoon, to meet again on Friday morning, but the aldermanic board contended that the board was obliged to meet before the board of aldermen could resume its adjourned session. To avoid legal complications, Provisional Mayor Jackson adjourned the board together and entertained a meeting of council.

Council then went into session to take up the sheet. On Friday, Orville H. Hall raised the point that it was the duty of the city to move for a reconsideration of the motion to adjourn, but the majority faction opposed the attempt to adjourn. Hall then moved to rescind that Councilman Hall's motion to adjourn, and the motion was carried.

Adlermen Kell and Armistead voted in favor of the motion of the chairman sheet.

Armistead's Plea.

"Let's get together and treat the members of the committee as human beings," Alderman Armistead said. "The members of the finance committee think the city is in shape, much better off than it was when we last left it, and we can get along with it for an indefinite period."

Adlermen J. C. Buttig and Maddox defended the attitude of the majority.

Alderman Ragdale, Kell, McDonnell and Armistead voted in favor of the action of council in passing the sheet.

The opponents were Alderman Maddox and Buttig.

Alderman Ragdale voted for the sheet on the side. He explained his vote as follows: "I voted for the sheet, but I understand the members of the finance committee are going to have a hard time getting the money, and I see no reason why the sheet should not be passed."

Alderman Ragdale explained that he was for a number of years, and he fully understood the action of the members who compose it.

Vote. Alderman Buttig's vote created the tie in the aldermanic board. Alderman Buttig and McDonnell were prevented from attending the meeting of council because of the fact that Alderman Candler is the leader of the minority, and he is majority by reason of the fact that he is a member of the minority.

Failure on the part of the aldermen to agree to the sheet showed that no further action can be taken until the next session.

Mayer Woodrow intimated recently that he would call a special meeting of the board to administer confirmation to the sheet.

The bishop will be present at the meeting.

Father Jackson, rector of the cathedral, adjourned.

WILL URGE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT VEREEN

Delegation of His Friends From Moultrie Coming to Atlanta Today.

A delegation of Moultrie and other south Georgia towns will be on the ground and urging the governor to appoint W. M. Vereen of Moultrie, for the seat in the state senate which the State senate has succeeded the late Senator Bacon.

The grand jury of Worth county, in session yesterday, voted to indict Mr. Vereen, a negro, on a charge of his candidacy and inferred him unmanly, as well as other large delegations from many south Georgia towns.

Mr. Vereen, a negro, is half black and that abundant indoctrination of the negroes in the south, all over the southwestern section of

That Adams, of the Moultrie delegation, said, "The negroes in the south, all over the country, are now educated to the point that the name of Mr. Vereen would be a blot on the record, but said that no action would be taken against him, as he had been invited to the funeral of Senator Bacon."

Mr. Vereen, Mr. Adams said, would not use any derogatory name, but said, "make the race for the longest time, and then the name of the appointment until November."

Mr. Vereen, a negro, has been engaged in business in Atlanta more than 20 years, and is a man of means, and has built up a splendid fortune.

Franklin, Va.—"I am now a happy woman," says Mrs. Elizabeth Boone, of this town, "although for eight (8) long years, I suffered dreadfully with women's troubles, and I had to lie in bed for three or four days, every month."

I was in such condition, I could not do my housework, nor could I eat heavy or greasy food of any kind. I was a perfect wreck.

Some of my lady friends advised me to try Cardul, the woman's tonic, which I did, and it worked well, but did not all of my housework, and well, not to all of my laundry work. I am sure the bottles of Cardul did me $100.00 worth of good.

I have but one regret, and that is that I did not commence taking Cardul 5 years ago. I would have avoided all that suffering, besides saving all the money I paid out for other medicines that did me no good.

Several of my lady friends are now taking Cardul on my recommendation and it is helping them."

If you suffer from any of the numerous ills so common to women, begin taking Cardul, today. It relieved Mrs. Boone after her condition became chronic. It will surely help you.

Try Cardul.

Benson Thrills Drama League With Address on Shakespeare

By Anna Deely.

Not long ago I heard a gathering of the drama people begin to discuss the immortalities of the great Shakespeare. In it others did not, unfortunately, each one began to tell his and their theories on the subject. The discussion was carried on in a spirit of friendly rivalry. Creeds were drawn from to prove this and that point. The most sacred inner holdings of one or two were exposed and given away without ceremony.

Mr. John A. Perdue is the guest of another, offended, and as the talkers were going in different directions, I was compelled to leave the room.

JENNINGS WILL BE IN LINE VERY SOON

Shortstop Candidate Is Weak- ening in His Stand to Quit Game This Season.

Morley Jennings, the young shortstop of the Atlanta club, is weakening in his stand to quit the game. In his mind about staying out of the game, he has written a letter to the editor of the Constitution, introducing to Atlanta readers the names of the clubs which will try for the positions of shortstop. The letter, with record, history and photo of each of the clubs mentioned, will be printed in the Constitution.

HARRY MONROE WELCHONCE, the young shortstop of the Atlanta club, is as everyone is familiar with his work in the Southern league. He led the batmen of the Atlanta club to the Southern title. Jennings does not say that he will leave the game, but the letter of the editor of the Constitution, introducing to Atlanta readers the names of the clubs which will try for the positions of shortstop, history and photo of each of the clubs mentioned, will be printed in the Constitution.

Whether Jennings or Hedgeson is the better player, the Atlanta club will show any team, and the Atlanta club will be the best in the Southern league.

The idea of youngsters who have never delivered in class and hold nothing but the promise of the future, has made us immensely if the local manager made an example of some of them.
